

Some good on-line sources of mathematical/logical games & puzzles

Play on-line, free unless indicated

- Brainbashers <http://www.brainbashers.com/>
daily puzzles of many sorts, several levels of difficulty, links to many other websites look under "logic games"
- Simon Tatham's Portable Puzzle Collection <http://www.chiark.greenend.org.uk/~sgtatham/puzzles/> features are similar to Brainbashers ; some of the same games and some quite different small files that can be downloaded easily onto various platforms
- Everett Kaser <http://www.kaser.com/>
home of Sherlock, Honeycomb Hotel, and other highly addictive games there are several free versions of each puzzle, but you have to pay if you want more
- Conceptis Logic Puzzles <http://www.conceptispuzzles.com/> some free puzzles, but you need to pay to get access to more
- Set http://www.setgame.com/set/puzzle_frame.htm
not only a new Set puzzle daily, but a link at the top to four more at the NY Times, and a lot of interesting links on the left

Printable puzzles

- <http://www.mathinenglish.com/index.php>
Rectangles (Shikaku), Hidato, etc, mostly for elementary grades
- <http://mathpickle.com/K-12/Videos.html>
challenging printable puzzles directly linked to curriculum, videos, cool stuff